These charges are to cover the actual cost to the district to install the service from the main line to the curb valve, and including the meter and the meter housing. Also included in this fee is an equity component that existing rate payer have built into the existing capital facilities. New customers will be assessed a fee that will approximate the equity position of existing customers since future development will rely upon the existing infrastructure to supply water. Additionally, the district may also charge the cost to dig up and repair streets, and Right-of-way to the standards of other municipalities. The service connection charge shall be determined by the district in the current published rate schedule. If an existing service connection exists (i.e. curb valve and piping to the main line) and bond obligations have not been paid, new service hook-up fees will apply.
